Construction

Construction offers a role for everyone, from practical and skilled jobs like Carpenters and Bricklayers to professional roles like Civil Engineers and Site Managers.

Where could I work?

- House building - new houses, house renovations
- Commercial building - offices, warehouses, shops and football stadiums
- Infrastructure - roads, water, electricity

What skills do I need?

Job specific skills and qualifications will be needed but employers will also look for experience and skills like:

- ✓ Team work
- ✓ Communication
- ✓ Decision making
- ✓ Design
- ✓ Working under pressure
- ✓ Problem solving
- ✓ Creativity

Some of the jobs in the Construction sector include:

- Builder
- Carpenter and Joiner
- Plumbing and Heating Engineer
- Labourer
- Site Manager
- Fork Lift Truck Driver
- Welder
- Civil Engineer

There are also vital roles happening off-site like:

- Human Resources Officer
- Finance Manager
- Receptionist
- Architect
- Contracts Manager
- Administrator
- 3D Visualiser/Specialist

Top Tips

- Volunteer to gain experience. Ask if local charities need support with maintenance or small building work
- Keep your CV updated. Add any new qualifications you've gained or any skills and experiences you've had
- Get networking. Many different tradespeople work on sites so 'word of mouth' is important when looking for work
